FOR DROPSY.
I NEVER SHALL FORGET THE FIRST DOSE.

Providence.

Mr. H. R. Stevens: Dear Sir-1 have been a great sufferer from lropsy. I was confined to my house more than a year. Six months of the time I was entirely helpless. I was obliged to have two men help me in an out of bed. I was swollen 19 inches larger than my natural size around my waist. I suffered all a man could and live. I tried all remedies for Dropsy. I had three different doctors. My friends all expected I would die: many nights I was expected to die before morning. At last Vegetine was sent me.by a friend. I never shall forget the first dose. I could realize its good effects from day to day was getting better. After I had taken some 5 or 6 bottles I could sleep quite well nights. I began to gain now quite fast. After taking some 10 bottles, I could walk from one part of my room to the other. My appetite was good; the dropsy had at this time dissappeared. I kept taking the Vegetine until I regained my usual health. I heard of a great many cures by using Vegetine after I got out and was able to attend to my work. I am a carpenter and builder. I will also say it has cured an aunt of my wife's of Neuralgia, who had suffered for more than 20 years. She says she has not had any neuralgia for eight months. I have given it to one of my children for Cankor Humor. I have no doubt in my mind it will cure any humor; it is a great cleanser of the blood; it is safe to give a child. I will recommend it to the world. My father is 80 years old, and he says there is nothing like it to give strength and life to an

use of it. lam. Very gratefully yours.

JOHN S. NOTTAGE.

ALL DISEASES OF THE BLOOD .- II Vegetine will relieve pain; cleanse, purify, and cure such diseases, restoring the patient to perfect health after trying different physicians, many remedies and suffering for years, is it not conclusive proof, if you are a sufferer you can be cured? Why is this medicine performing such great cures? It works in the blood, in the circulating fluid. It can truly be called the Great Blood Purifier. The great source of disease originates in the blood; and no medicine that does not act directly upon it to purify and renovate, has any just claim upon public attenaged person. I cannot be too thankful for the

Dear Sir—Having suffered from a breaking out of Cankerous Sores for more than five years, caused by an accident of a fractured bone, which fracture ran into a running sore, and having used everything I could think of and nething helped me until I had taken six bottles of your valuable medicine, which Mr. Miller, the apothecary, recommended very highly. The sixth bottle cured me, and all I can say is, that I owe my health to your valuable Vegetine. Your most obedient servant, ALBERT VON ROEDER. "It is unnecessary for me to enumerate the diseases for which the Vegetine should be used. I know of no disease which will not admit of its use, with good results. Almost innumerable complaints are caused by poisonous secretions in the blood, which can be entirely expelled from the system by the use of the Vogetine. When the blood is perfectly cleansed the disease rapidly yields; all pains cease; healthy action is promptly restored, and the patient is cured." VEGETINE CURED ME WHEN THE DOCTORS

FAILED.

Lord Beaconsfield.

Your correspondent was among those who went to the British Embassy last night to meet the Congress. A stroll through the apartments of the Embassy palace showed the real value of what is taking place in Berlin. In this company every name seems a history, so often you have heard it, and every face a memory, so often you have seen it. Within these walls are the men who rule the world. Our host, Lord Odo Russell, represents the greatness of England in his family, one of the oldest and proudest of the English dukedoms. This gen tleman who comes in with the steady, studied gait, as if fearing he may trip or stumble, is well worthy of note. How soft and purring, how stealthily he glides along. Mark his face, you certainly have marked it, because it is a face that men are apt to turn to and study. It is a face that attracts and at the same time repels. You look in vain for something human in it. Not an unkind face, not hard, not as if written unon by some stern fate, but without any life, or expression, or, if you can call it an expression, it is the traditional smile of Mephistopheles. His Lordship talks to Gener: Grant, to my lady this and my lord that, a: ! sinks into the soft corner of a sofa and you : nothing but that unchanging gaze, that mayou have seen perhaps in a dream or have couupon hurriedly in the eleisters of some of Gothic cathedral where for conturies it rested in stone. Mark well that face, for years have grown upon it and drawn its lines together and time has had its way for seventy four years upon the face of Banjamin Disraeli, Lord of Beaconsfield. Beacons field is the hero of the hour, as he is the hero of the town, and if you see any expression whatever in his visage it is consciousness of this attraction. People run after him and great people follow him around, and he is pointed at and his picture hawked; for somehow, this honest, simple German mind sees under that mass, under that strange, weird, unchanging smile-as fixed as the smile of Hugo's Gwynplaine-the might of England .-There must be some enchantment about so grave a fact-and this is a land where good souls believe in wizards and legerdemain-that so great a nation should be worn as a talisman around the neck of an Oriental emjarer .--Well, I take off my hat to genius whenever ! see it, for genius to me is God's warrant of nobility, and certainly there is no intellect of this day so subtle as that of my Lord of Bea constield. And having written more or less for my living these various and varying years, and seeing no prospect now that all rich men's wills are lost in your Surrogate's Court, and seeing no prospect that I shall do anything elso, at least until my argesies from Spain come home, I feel some pride in the fact that this Lord of Beaconsfield is a literary man and wrote for pay poems, romances, abic edito rials, gossip, like the rest of us. And although he is a man to puzzle over, and you wonder how much of him is charlatan, how much states man, how much there is of Cagliostra and how much of Richelien; you must bow down to that power which lifted him, a mere writer of romances, and of an alien race, to be the first minister of England and the most powerful since Walpole-a Minister who sways the Crown, the Lords and the Commons; who dismuses a Stanley from his Cabinet and makes a Salisbury his henchman. No wonder Beaconstiel 1 fascinates this honest German mind, for it has read of such things only in fairy books and in poems of mythology. It can understand "Mad Bis-marck," as they called him, transing his way to empire, striking right and left with his mace like old Charles the Great, because there is German character and force in that, and al Germany kept time to his march, and came smashing, tramping and destroying behind him. But this magician with that very Oriential face, that once in these German lands was a badge of degradation; this smooth, creeping, gliding-miserere!—there is only one way in which Gesman can account for it. Something this you feel as you watch My Lord gire those frail limbs and that bent he at through these thronged halls, a whisper to one and a whisper to another-never mor a than a whisper, whisper to another—never more of han a whisper, and thinking of his power you compare him with his only rival, Bisme, rek. But I shall not be tempted into the ane logies and contradictions of that comparison. Coming from the presence of Bismarck to the at of Beaconsfield is like coming from these logies and open fields, over which the strong because are blowing from these 25 Special attention is asked to the NEW the strong b eezes are blowing fresh from the Norther, Ocean, into the laboratory of an atchemi'st, where all manner of potions and magic fluc's are brewing, and where the air is laden with smoke and spicery. DAUGHTERS OF VIRGINIA IN THE SURF .-The young ladies manage to make out very well for themselves, which is not surprising, as the most of them are Virginia's fairest daugh ters, who are as noted for their self relance as Boston girls for bookishness. This remarkable quality is seen at the best advantage during bathing hours, and the visitor soon learns that some of the girls here are as much at home in the water as ducks, and can dive around as greatly reduced prices. LEADBEATER & BRO. venturing into deep water away from shore. comes very strangely to a young man proud of his strength to have the apparently frail and gentle creature he met and walked with in the moonlight last night dash past him into deep water, and daring him to follow her, breast the running billows and swim far away with case, while he stands shivering and gasping for breath, and wondering why women are called the weaker vessels and man creation's lord. Miss De Russey, who has lived here by the water side for many years, the daughter of an army officer, now deceased, swam a mile out and back this afternoon with an officer from the fort, and came back looking as fresh and bury ant and bewitching as any siren of the sea, WM.
